A market leader in the marine sector

WITH MKN

MKN on the world's cruise ships:

- TUI Mein Schiff 3+4
- Norwegian Breakaway and Getaway
- RCCL Quantum of the Seas
- RCCL Anthem of the Seas
- Costa Diadema
- P&O Aurora

MKN is considered as one of the market leaders in the marine catering equipment sector. From cruise ships to private yachts, MKN professional cooking technology is nearly always on board. And 2015 promises to be a particularly successful year again: numerous cruise ships are in line for new galley equipment! MKN's complete product portfolio will be represented on these ships, ranging from MKN Meister blocks and modular technology to MKN FlexiCombi combi steamers and the innovative MKN FlexiChef.

MKN's success is based on its innovative products and continuous development to meet the high demands made in the marine sector. Easy compliance with the particularly strict hygiene regulations (USPH) and safety regulations (SOLAS) plays a significant role by the selection of suitable professional cooking technology. So it's no surprise that an appliance such as FlexiChef, equipped with the first automatic cleaning system for pans which doesn't use chemicals and is hygienically faultless, convinces in no time at all.

In addition, MKN guarantees a worldwide supply of spare parts and regular training for its service partners to ensure that operation also runs smoothly after MKN's professional cooking technology has been installed. MKN is particularly pleased about the new demonstration galley which has opened in Great Britain. Users are now able to test MKN's state of the art technology thoroughly at this facility.
